Last Week's Sermon 5/28

Theme for the day: Ascension Sunday
 Sermon: "At Home in God"
 Focus Scripture: (Acts 17:22-31)

On the last day of the festival, the great day, while Jesus was standing there, he cried out, "Let anyone who is thirsty come to me, and let the one who believes in me drink. As the scripture has said, 'Out of the believer's heart shall flow rivers of living water.'" Now he said this about the Spirit, which believers in him were to receive, for as yet there was no Spirit because Jesus was not yet glorified.

© New Revised Standard Version Updated Edition

"Come, Holy Spirit, Come"

"Come, Holy Spirit, Come"

"Come, Holy Spirit, Come" Come to us on the Pentecost Day

Each day during the "festival" of Booths (Tabernacles), water has been carried from the Pool of Siloam to the Temple, as a reminder of the water which sprang forth from the rock in the wilderness. Jesus now reinterprets the water: he is the "living water"; Christ relieves the thirst of the believer. The Greek translation of "the believer's heart" means one's very being. Christ gives life!

Yet there is a slight hiccup when it comes to understanding our gospel reading this morning. It refers to a scripture that Jesus likely quoted, but we don't know just which scripture that was. Since we don't know where Jesus was quoting from, our lesson can be interpreted as to mean that Jesus is the living water (a way that he has referenced himself before, with the woman at the well) or Jesus may be encouraging, even challenging, those who follow him to become vessels of living water which they share with others!

We are called to give life to our community! The good news is that we are just the conduit! Furthermore, we get to jump ahead in the story and hear from the Apostle Paul sharing the Apostle Peter's word about what does happen when the Holy Spirit arrives, and it's wild! To be able to follow these texts, let alone understand them, we need to embrace a "re-enchanted" world view that joins science and spirituality and awakens us to experience divinity holistically. In the process, we need to be “re-enchanted” ourselves, open to “signs and wonders” in the world, in church, and in our lives. Abraham Joshua Heschel asserts that we need to be willing to let go of control, and be radically amazed.

Remember that the great religions of the world began with mystical experiences and that a truly authentic vision of reality accepts the evidence of mystics as well as scientists. God can touch us unexpectedly and we can become mystics, too! The mystics remind us that reality is larger than we can imagine and that we live in a sea of energy, such as only the Holy Spirit can bring, and possibility in which wild things can happen when we least expect it, rearranging our spiritual landscape and sending us on unexpected holy adventures.

Reverend Dr. William Loader is professor emeritus at Murdoch University in West Australia. Perhaps his poem about the Holy Spirit can help us to become “re-enchanted with the gift of living water that we are called to share.

“Wind, Wind - a reflection on the Spirit”

by William Loader

Wind, wind, you come from nothingness and go to nothingness, and when you are still, there is nothing we see, nothing we hear, and you surround us in our not seeing and not knowing. Wild, wild wind, you whip the seas, whirling great water spouts and fountains, crashing on the foamed edges of the shore, sweeping the unsuspecting fisherman from the slippery rocks, terrifying force, uncontrollable, beyond our power.

O wind, piercing wind, driving the blizzard, the sleet, the rain, trampling earth with wild tempests and tantrums that uproot trees, unroof houses and wreak devastation in your path. Wind, wind, wondrous wind, hovering at the birth of creation, whisking secretly among the wonders of new life, bearing the seed, lifting high the heads of mighty trees, swirling among the grasses, celebrating life.

Wind, wind, we know your ways, we trace your web on the map of highs and lows, today’s weather, tomorrow’s predictions, depressions and sea breezes, we harness your power, our weather vanes point to you, a cross shows where you have been and we do not know.

O wind, O silent wind, where do you go? Do you go away and play, in outback gorges or bare mountains of the desert, stirring small clouds of red dust among the bushes, kissing the rippled smile of the billabong, running down the slopes, exulting at the rock face, passing by the mountain with none to see and none to know your trail. Wind, gentle wind, wind of our breathing, our life, our hope, renewing, refreshing, sighing in our stress,<sup>SEP</sup> moaning in our pain, still in our dying.

O wind, wind, you breathed upon the clay and there was life, you danced down to the forehead of a Galilean and there was hope, you shook the foundations of community and there was Pentecost.

Wind of nothingness and awe, wind of knowing and unknowing, wind of bearing and begetting, wind of secrets and mystery, O wise, wise wind, whisper to us your grace.

Amen.

Homeless Services

In May there were 113 homeless services supplied in the 19 days we were open. This represented services to 41 unique persons. The clients ranged in age from 18 to 73 with an average age of 41.6. The services provided included 97 showers, 17 loads of laundry, and 7 requests for supplies. The supplies included hygiene kits, socks, underwear, gas and photocopying. 16 visitors were new clients for us. 53% have cellphones and 90% had valid ID.

Habitat for Humanity at St. Pauls

Over the weekend Tommy, Don and Sherry attended the Habitat for Humanity build at St. Paul's UMC. They joined about 80 other people in making a house come true for a local family. The house will be assembled on 18th street about 3/4 of a mile south of Trinity.

This was a "progressive" build where on the first day 4 cutting teams spent 3 hours reducing two loads of 2x4s and 2x6s into all the precision cut pieces necessary to build the house.

On the second day 12 build teams with 5 people each assembled the precut pieces into 43 wall sections. Each completed wall section was inspected by a master carpenter to assure they matched the blueprints and requirements.

After all the walls were completed, they were temporarily assembled in the backyard of the church into a house so that the "after church crowd" could take a tour of the house and get a feel for the size. Sunday afternoon the house was disassembled, and the wall sections will be trucked to the construction site where they will be reassembled for the finished house.

Farewell for Pastor Ruth

Following worship on 18 MAY we will be celebrating Ruth's nine years of service at Trinity.

David will be back in town so we can bid him farewell as well. The Scouts will be preparing breakfast and then we will reminisce and send them off with love and gratitude.

Please call me with any questions you may have. Bev Kemp - 208-569-6149

Furnishings for Rev. Kathy

In conjunction with St. Paul's UMC we are furnishing their parsonage for the use of Rev. Kathy during her tenure here. It will also be used by visiting members of the cabinet. Do you have single beds that you no longer need? Please call the church if you can help.

Paint Restoration in Sanctuary

Rob is starting on the restoration of the south front wall of the sanctuary. The paint on the wall was damaged by a leak from the roof before it was replaced. There are now large sections of paint peeling off.

The first step was for Robin to remove the south video monitor. He accomplished this by using a very long ladder as a hoisting point over the monitor. He made a sling for the monitor and lowered it to the ground.

Next Rob will remove the peeling paint and patch the surface of the wall to make it smooth again.
